Being given the opportunity to tap into Naomi's wealth of industry knowledge went far beyond a typical classroom environment and gave me real-world expertise to apply in the industry.

Getting to work collaboratively with an expert in the creative field both enhanced my understanding of our curriculum in the classroom and offered practical tools for work in the creative industry.

MASTERCLASSES

Improving skills through dynamic coaching

At Little Red Pathways we love creating masterclasses to suit your specific requirements. Our two most popular masterclasses are:

PERFORMANCE

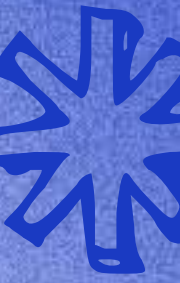

Our performance masterclasses are designed to help students feel more relaxed during their performances and assessments by focussing on key components like connection to material, musical and vocal choices, working towards a desired audience response and overcoming performance nerves. These masterclasses are ideal for instrumental and vocal ensembles, and also well suited to music, dance and drama students.

SONGWRITING / COMPOSITION

We offer unique composition, arrangement and songwriting masterclasses with published songwriters, composers and arrangers. These are designed to improve students' understanding of songwriting components including lyrics, rhyme schemes, use of metaphor, rhythm and phrasing, chord structure and harmony, arrangement and compositional devices such as development of a central melodic theme, harmonic changes and variations, and communicating meaning through music.

The thing that I gained from the Performance Masterclasses was becoming more confident about performing in front of others. The whole program was enjoyable and I was able to get great tips from other people's performances too.

WORKSHOPS

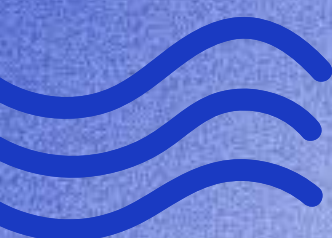

Igniting confidence and creativity

Our workshops offer hands-on, empowering experiences created to engage in collaborative group exercises, ignite student's confidence and creativity, and share in the joyfulness of making art together.

Little Red Pathways can style a workshop specifically for you and bring it to your school, and we also offer a range of school holiday workshops for young performance and backstage crew in partnership with La Boite Theatre.

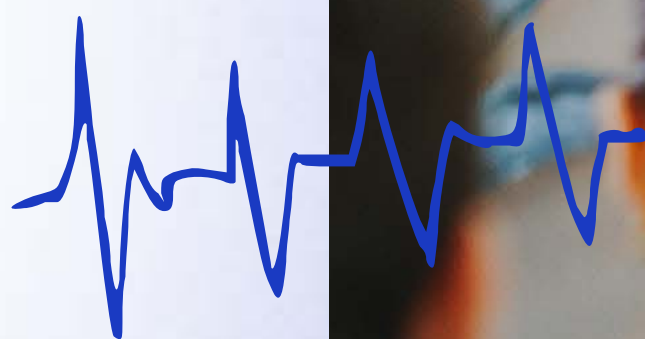

Alex is amazing! She was engaging, caring, complimentary and incredibly skilled. The group was a little hesitant and reserved at the start but Alex won their trust very quickly, and the students felt safe taking those responsible performance risks that we as performers know can be nerve-wracking.

The time flew by and by the end I don't think the students wanted to leave.

The Little Red Pathways program has given such wonderful opportunities for our students to work with incredible artists and mentors. One such opportunity was Guy’s involvement in the Lord Mayor’s Christmas Carols – a very special experience that the whole school community was able to share in.
